JIRAN

THE PROBLEM

RETAIL STORES OPERATE IN ISOLATION

- Enterprise inventory tools are too complex and too expensive for small stores
- Independent retailers have no way to see what nearby stores have in stock
- Overstocking leads to dead stock and direct financial loss
- Understocking means missed sales and frustrated customers
- Manual tracking is slow, error-prone, and disconnected

JIRAN

Stores fight the same problems every day completely alone.

JIRAN'S ML PIPELINE RUNS IN TWO STAGES:

STAGE 1

Demand Forecasting (Prophet)
Facebook's time-series model, trained per store-product pair on daily sales history. Produces forecasts across 4 horizons: 7, 14, 30, and 60 days, with confidence intervals.

STAGE 2

Stock Classification (Ensemble)
A soft-voting ensemble of Random Forest (500 trees) + Gradient Boosting (400 trees) + XGBoost (400 trees). Classifies every product into one of 5 labels:

Dead · Slow · Low · Excess · Optimum

CV Accuracy: 99.95%

Transfer Engine: When a store is Low, the system finds donor stores with Excess or Dead stock and recommends precise transfer quantities , so no product sits idle while another store runs out.
